For all things NEPA on this project, please have your team coordinate directly with Ann Navaro, Counselor to the Solicitor. Prior to DOI, Ann worked at DOJ (ENRD) and the Army Corps of Engineers. She creates significant value on all projects, particularly infrastructure projects. For additional background on some of the specific project challenges, I've cc'd Peter May, NPS National Capital Region Associate Regional Director for Lands & Planning. I've also cc'd Louise Milkman, Assistant Solicitor for Parks. She oversees the team of NPS attorneys working on this and other NPS matters. Description:

Dear Streamlining Federal Siting Webinar Participants: As the Chair of the FCC's Broadband Deployment Advisory Committee (BDAC) Streamlining Federal Siting Working Group (Working Group), I am pleased at the high level of federal agency interest in participating in our webinar next Wednesday, December 13 at 2pm. At its November 9 meeting, the full BDAC voted to approve our Working Group's recommendations for streamlining federal siting. We have excellent federal agency representation on the Working Group, but we wish to engage as many federal landholding and managing agencies as possible for feedback on our recommendations. On this webinar, we will present our recommendations to the participating agencies, hear any feedback on our report, and answer and take note of any questions the agencies have. Our hope is that the feedback that we gather can inform any edits we need to make in the report before the next BDAC meeting taking place January 23 and 24. We would also like to report to the FCC any feedback we receive as a result of our webinar. This will help the FCC as it develops next steps. We look forward to your participation in this webinar. A slide presentation will be made available for attendees and all interested parties. Please let us know if you have any questions. Description:

Hi all, Please join us to discuss "The Train to Crystal City: FDR's Secret Prisoner Exchange Program and America's Only Family Internment Camp During World War II" by Jan Jarboe Russell. Please join us in the newly renovated Library for this discussion, and let us know if you need help borrowing a copy of this book via interlibrary loan. As always, all are welcome and you don't need to finish the book to join us. About The Train to Crystal City: By now, most Americans past high school have learned something about the internment of Japanese-Americans after the bombing of Pearl Harbor in 1940; until recently a not-much-discussed piece of history—the internment of citizens mostly born on our soil—was, to many, a blight on the human rights record of the Roosevelt administration. But what The Train to Crystal City makes clear is that Executive Order 9066, which paved the way for internment of Japanese Americans, was just one of the questionable human rights decisions the wartime administration made. According to this dramatic, copiously detailed but still very readable account, a camp in Crystal City, Texas housed American-born children of German and Italian descent as well as Japanese, and many of those children were traded for "more ostensibly important Americans—diplomats, businessmen, soldiers, and missionaries" who were stuck behind enemy lines. (The program was dubbed the "quiet passage.") How did such a thing happen? To find out, author Jan Jarboe Russell looked into government files (surprise: Eleanor Roosevelt did not agree with her husband the president and publicly abhorred internment of "Oriental looking people," suggesting that it was un-American) and interviewed now-adult survivors who had been in the camp as children, most notably a Japanese-American girl named Sumi and a German American one named Ingrid. Though the two never met, their stories, taken together, celebrate the pluck and resilience on the part of many survivors. They also paint a vivid picture, all too applicable today, of a country beset by wartime fear, bigotry and governmental misguidance.

Description:

General Counsels, I am hopeful that we will not have to implement lapse plans for the foreseeable future, but I think it would be useful to have a call with agency GCs and Deputy GCs to ensure we have done a robust review of lapse plans to make any future shutdown as minimally disruptive as possible for federal employees and the American people. I would like to have a call at 10 am tomorrow to discuss lapse plans. Please make every effort to have you or your deputy participate in the call. This is a 10 year settlement agreement that would essentially continue a prior settlement that expires at the end of February. FWS and BIA are both parties, and FWS is planning to sign a biological opinion regarding fish hatchery production. Three states have already signed the proposed agreement as have the four major Tribes. Federal agencies are being asked to sign this month. We previously briefed Jim Cason on the outlines of this settlement. This is an update on where things stand in U.S. v. Oregon for DPW.

Description:

Hi all, Please join us on Tuesday March 6 to discuss the New York Times bestseller, Killers of the Flower Moon: The Osage Murders and the Birth of the FBI by David Grann. We will meet in the renovated DOI Library, accessible from the C Street Lobby of the Main Interior Building. Everyone is welcome and you don't need to finish the book to join us. Tell your friends! Book info: The Amazon Editors' Pick for the Best Book of 2017: In the 1920s, the Osage found themselves in a unique position among Native American tribes. As other tribal lands were parceled out in an effort by the government to encourage dissolution and assimilation of both lands and culture, the Osage negotiated to maintain the mineral rights for their corner of Oklahoma, creating a kind of "underground reservation." It proved a savvy move; soon countless oil rigs punctured the dusty landscape, making the Osage very rich. And that's when they started dying. You'd think the Osage Indian Reservation murders would have been a bigger story, one as familiar as the Lindbergh kidnapping or Bonnie and Clyde. It has everything, but at scale: Execution-style shootings, poisonings, and exploding houses drove the body count to over two dozen, while private eyes and undercover operatives scoured the territory for clues. Even as legendary and infamous oil barons vied for the most lucrative leases, J. Edgar Hoover's investigation - which he would leverage to enhance both the prestige and power of his fledgling FBI - began to overtake even the town's most respected leaders. Exhuming the massive amount of detail is no mean feat, and it's even harder to make it entertaining. But journalist David Grann knows what he's doing. With the same obsessive attention to fact - in service to storytelling - as The Lost City of Z, Killers of the Flower Moon reads like narrative nonfiction as written by James M. Cain (there are, after all, insurance policies involved): smart, taut, and pacy. Most sobering, though, is how the tale is at once unsurprising and unbelievable, full of the arrogance, audacity, and inhumanity that continues to reverberate through today's headlines. --Jon Foro, The Amazon Book Review

Description:

Join us in the Library to discuss A Walk in the Woods by Bill Bryson. If you don't finish it - come anyway. A Walk in the Woods: Rediscovering America on the Appalachian Trail by Bill Bryson (1999) 305 pages Back in America after twenty years in Britain, Bill Bryson decided to reacquaint himself with his native country by walking the 2,100-mile Appalachian Trail, which stretches from Georgia to Maine. The AT offers an astonishing landscape of silent forests and sparkling lakes—and to a writer with the comic genius of Bill Bryson, it also provides endless opportunities to witness the majestic silliness of his fellow human beings. For a start there's the gloriously out-of-shape Stephen Katz, a buddy from Iowa along for the walk. Despite Katz's overwhelming desire to find cozy restaurants, he and Bryson eventually settle into their stride, and while on the trail they meet a bizarre assortment of hilarious characters. But A Walk in the Woods is more than just a laugh-out-loud hike. Bryson's acute eye is a wise witness to this beautiful but fragile trail, and as he tells its fascinating history, he makes a moving plea for the conservation of America's last great wilderness. An adventure, a comedy, and a celebration, A Walk in the Woods has become a modern classic of travel literature.

Description:

Our next book will be Arctic Dreams by Barry López (1986) 496 pagesBased on Barry Lopez's years spent traveling the Arctic regions in thecompany of Eskimo hunting parties and scientific expeditions alike,Arctic Dreams investigates the unique terrain of the human mind, throwninto relief against the vastness of the tundra and the frozen ocean.Eye-opening and profoundly moving, it is a magnificent appreciation ofhow wilderness challenges and inspires us. "The nation's premier naturewriter" travels to a landscape at once barren and beautiful, perilousand alluring, austere yet teeming with vibrant life, and shot throughwith human history (San Francisco Chronicle). The Arctic has forcenturies been a destination for the most ambitious explorers—a placeof dreams, fears, and awe-inspiring spectacle. This "dazzling" accountby the author of Of Wolves and Men takes readers on a breathtakingjourney into the heart of one of the world's last frontiers (The NewYork Times).

Description:

Hi all, The votes are in and for our next book, we will read The Feather Thief: Beauty, Obsession, and the Natural History Heist of the Century by Kirk Wallace Johnson. It just edged out Simon Winchester's Pacific: Silicon Chips and Surfboards, Coral Reefs and Atom Bombs, Brutal Dictators, Fading Empires, and the Coming Collision of the World's Superpowers so we will read that for our Sept/October meeting. We'll meet in the Library and no RSVP is necessary. You can also come if you don't finish the book - many of us often don't. Spread the word! And you can contact the Reference Desk with any questions - (202)208-5815 or library@ios.doi.gov Happy reading! Shannon

Description:

Hi Readers! Please join us on Thursday, November 29, 2018 to discuss From Midnight to Dawn: The Last Tracks of the Underground Railroad by Jacqueline Tobin (description below). All are welcome - tell a friend or colleague! The Library doesn't have enough copies to lend but may be able to help you borrow this book via Interlibrary loan - please let us know if you need help with that. Best, Shannon From Midnight to Dawn presents compelling portraits of the men and women who established the Underground Railroad and traveled it to find new lives in Canada. Evoking the turmoil and controversies of the time, Tobin illuminates the historic events that forever connected American and Canadian history by giving us the true stories behind well-known figures such as Harriet Tubman and John Brown. She also profiles lesser-known but equally heroic figures such as Mary Ann Shadd, who became the first black female newspaper editor in North America, and Osborne Perry Anderson, the only black survivor of the fighting at Harpers Ferry. An extraordinary examination of a part of American history, From Midnight to Dawn will captivate readers with its tales of hope, courage, and a people's determination to live equally under the law.
